

Lab4_Q3_A

Answer:

Since cylinder has attributes radius and height and circle has attributes radius, here they both have same attribute "radius" also circle can be considered as the part of cylinder. Hence for better code reutilization, circle being subclass can take the radius from superclass cylinder. So that inheritance principle can be used here.